

HARDING MAKES MOVE FOR DISARMAMENT

DOMINION BASIS FOR IRELAND MAY BE SETTLEMENT REACHED WHEN DE VALERA MEETS PREMIER

Irish Republican Leader and British Prime Minister Will Hold Conference

RIOTS THREATEN TRUCE

Fifteen Killed and 100 Injured in Riots in Belfast Since Saturday

Belfast, July 11.—Fifteen persons have been killed and nearly 100 wounded up to 10 o'clock Sunday night as a result of rioting which began Saturday.

London, July 11.—(By Associated Press.)—Eamonn De Valera will come to London on Thursday of this week for his conference with Premier Lloyd-George to discuss a basis of a settlement of the Irish problem. Official announcement to this effect was issued this afternoon.

TRUCE AGREED ON

Dublin, July 11.—(By Associated Press.)—The truce in Ireland agreed on by government officials and republican leaders pending peace negotiations went into effect at noon today.

In Dublin the complete disappearance from the streets of the military police lorries and armored cars marked the official beginning of the truce.

HOPE FOR SETTLEMENT

London, July 11.—Mr. Lloyd-George, who spent the week-end at Chequers Court with the premiers of the British Dominion, returned to London this morning to arrange final details for his meeting with Mr. De Valera which may mark an epoch in the relations of Ireland and Great Britain.

The truce between the Crown Forces and the Irish Republican army became effective at noon today but there were apprehensions that extremists on both sides would be hard to control. Yesterday's rioting in Belfast during which at least 15 persons were killed and nearly 100 injured aroused grave fears over incidents which might happen tomorrow, the anniversary of the Battle of the Boyne.

It appeared today that conversations between Mr. De Valera and the prime minister would revolve around the granting of dominion status to Ireland upon conditions that the Sinn Fein demand for the establishment of an Irish republic would be abandoned.

There was a disposition to believe that once the conference was under way some means of smoothing out present difficulties would be found.

Curfew Reimposed

Belfast, July 11.—(A. P.)—The curfew was reimposed here today as a result of the disorders of Sunday. Belfast now is the only place in Ireland under the curfew regulation despite the truce terms by which the curfew was raised generally.

Quiet Restored

Belfast, July 11.—Quiet was prevailing in all districts of the city this morning following yesterday's disorders and bloodshed. Inquiries at hospitals showed that persons wounded during yesterday's riot were as a whole progressing satisfactorily although a few were believed to be in a critical condition. About 80 persons are still in the hospitals.

The quiet was disturbed before the morning had progressed far. A great deal of revolver firing developed in Stanhope street and the adjoining districts. At one hospital six cases of bullet wounds were treated.

Some firing occurred in several of yesterday's disturbed areas but police patrols promptly checked any attempt at an organized outbreak.

The freight and mail train from Belfast to Londonderry was attacked near Carrickmore county Tyrone this morning and six cars were burned and the line torn up at this point.

Hand in Arms

In Londonderry according to the terms of the truce the police at noon were summoned to their barracks to hand in their revolvers. Subsequently returning street duty unarmed.

In Belfast where disorders began Sunday and were still continuing in some degree this morning the police were full returning their arms.

WITNESS SAYS WIFE OF DEAD MAN HAD RIFLE

Defense Makes Effort to Show Self-Defense in Bowen Murder Trial

HEAT BREAKS UP COURT

Adjournment Taken a Little Early Saturday Afternoon When Mercury Goes Up

Hettinger N. D. July 11.—(A. P.)—One of the men accused of murder in connection with the killing of M. K. Bowen at his ranch near Beach, July 21, 1919, this morning was under cross examination by the state.

Placed on the stand Saturday afternoon by the defense in the trial of D. R. Offey Stark, corroborated the testimony previously given by F. W. Taylor that Bowen had cursed the four men who called to replevin cattle and had run to the barn to get his gun that he heard Taylor shoot and saw Bowen when he dropped. He declared that Bowen was holding a gun.

Heard Two Shots

Stark testified that he heard two shots from the direction of the house and saw Mrs. Bowen come running from the house carrying a rifle and endeavoring to get a shot at somebody. Under cross-examination this morning Stark repeated the story told Saturday.

The court adjourned at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon after a thermometer placed in the sun outside of the court room ran up to 126 and was taken in before the mercury broke. The thermometer in the court room showed over 100.

The judge allowed the jury to go home over Sunday and cross-examination of Stark was taken up this morning.

BRINTON TELLS OF SISAL TRUST AND MR. TOWLEY

Relates Alleged Connection Of League Chief Before Referee Here

The alleged connection of A. C. Townley, president of the National Nonpartisan League with the United States Sisal Trust was related by F. W. Brinton, formerly associated with Townley in the Nonpartisan league before H. F. O'Hare, referee in bankruptcy here late Saturday afternoon. The next move will be a request to Judge Amidon to cancel Townley's discharge, McCutcheon said.

Brinton in effect swore that Townley told him that he knew the Nonpartisan league could not last forever and that he wanted the Florida enterprise as a next step when the league should blow up.

The testimony was taken on request of F. B. McCutcheon of Minot, trustee for creditors who says creditors have claims of about $80,000 against Townley.

When First Heard Of

Brinton told the story that he first heard of the Sisal enterprise in 1917 when Edwin Lundin, a Florida land owner attempted to interest Townley in the acquisition of sisal growing property. Their meeting Brinton asserted took place in the Gardner hotel in Fargo. Brinton said he made an investigation trip, Townley paying his expenses and upon the basis of his report Townley invested in the Florida lands. Brinton swore Townley told him he used funds of the Nonpartisan Publishing company and that soon after he made his report Townley invested $100,000 to $250,000.

In the beginning Brinton said 160 acres of Florida land was obtained and a sisal nursery was started. Brinton declared Townley owned this land at the time of his bankruptcy but did not reveal it. Later Brinton said two companies a common law trust and a holding company were organized and F. J. Hastings was put in charge of the enterprise. He said that Townley's plan was that through the holding company Townley would control one third of the stock either personally or through his representatives.

Company Enlarged

The company was enlarged and several acres of Dade county Florida land purchased. Brinton asserted that he said about $100,000 was invested and it was intended to grow great quantities of the products. Brinton claimed that Townley's drafts on the Nonpartisan Publishing company were properly shown to this company's books but that F. W. Thatch, an assistant told him the books were rewritten in the last few days.

BRINTON CASE ENDS TERM OF COURT IN CITY

Judge Nuessle Goes to Washburn to Hold Court For Several Days

POLITICIANS ARE ARGUING

Brinton Claims it Vindication While Nonpartisans Deny This Claim

The Brinton perjury case, which was ended Saturday afternoon in district court, concluded the business of the June term of court which had it not been for the case would have ended July 2. Judge Nuessle goes to Washburn Tuesday morning to hold court for several days.

The trial of the Brinton case lasted from June 24, and was tried during weather which made it no easy task for lawyers for the defense or the prosecution.

Brinton declared the verdict of not guilty was a complete vindication of his charges.

Deny It's Vindication

Nonpartisans, pointing to Judge Nuessle's instruction, declared the verdict did not mean a vindication of Brinton. Under the perjury statute they said and the court's instructions in conformity the truth or falsity of the matters charged was not the issue. Brinton believed he was telling the truth whether it was true or false it was necessary to acquit him they said.

Defendant's Statement

Mr. Brinton made the following statement after the verdict was read. I wish to repeat what I said at the time of my arrest by the attorney general which was before this affair is over the defendant will be the plaintiff and the plaintiff will be the defendant. According to the evidence produced in this case and by the argument of Attorney General Weeks I was really the plaintiff and the state officials the defendants. Of course everybody who is familiar with the case understands that the administration brought this case in self defense and never intended to try it in court as the pleadings for a postponement by Mr. Lemke show. It is the first time a defendant charged with a serious crime demanded being prosecuted when the prosecutor did not want to prosecute. It took me nearly a year to get them into court and the result is satisfactory to me.

What Was Charged

The information charged Brinton with testifying falsely upon a great number of things before the house investigating committee. There were 23 assignments in the information. Among other things he charged that there was a hidden controversy over the policy of the Bank of North Dakota at the time of its organization. That the Scandinavian-American bank of Fargo was partly owned and controlled by leaders of the Nonpartisan League.

That the Scandinavian American bank was bought by J. J. Hastings then financial manager of the league on instructions from Townley and Lemke during the year 1917 following conferences held in the national offices of the league.

That the Scandinavian American bank control was taken away from Hastings and turned over to William Lemke and H. A. Padonok.

That the Publishers National Service Bureau was organized by A. C. Townley and was controlled by William Lemke.

That he (Brinton) knew that substantially every dollar of state money deposited in the Scandinavian American bank at Fargo was loaned to dummy corporations organized by A. C. Townley and William Lemke in which league leaders were used for different purposes such as directors of corporations but who were in reality not directors or corporations.

That about $10,000 was loaned by the Scandinavian American bank of Fargo to local corporations within six days after the opening of the Bank of North Dakota.

Paper Brought to Bank

That it was one time between $2,000 and $300,000 of Fargo paper was brought to the Bank of North Dakota and accounted for by F. W. Brinton but which he failed to account for in front of the jury. The jury was finally told that the Brinton case was a perjury case.

That the Brinton case was a perjury case. The Brinton case was a perjury case. The Brinton case was a perjury case.

ASKS NATIONS TO CONFERENCE IN WASHINGTON

Effort of President is Revealed in Official State Department Announcement

ALSO TAKES UP FAR EAST

Chief Executive Tells Nations of America's Interest in Problem

Washington, July 11.—The court of the United States was definitely set today toward two goals of international importance—limitation of armament and solution of problems involving the Pacific and Far East.

President Harding it was revealed in a state department announcement published today has approached with definite inquiries the governments of Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan to ascertain whether it would be agreeable to those nations to participate in a conference to be held in Washington at an agreed date for the discussion for the limitation.

Far East Problem

He furthermore has suggested to the nations interested in the problems of the Pacific and the Far East that there be undertaken in connection with the armament conference the consideration of all matters bearing upon their solution with a view to reaching a common understanding with respect to principles and policies in the far east.

The state department announcement said that if the proposal for a limitation of armament conference were found acceptable formal invitations for the conference would be issued.

Lloyd George Affranks

London, July 11.—President Harding's message looking to the calling of an international conference on the limitation of armament has been received with the utmost pleasure by Great Britain. Mr. Lloyd George the premier declared in the house of commons today.

Speaking on the subject of the American communication the prime minister said: "I need not say that we welcome with the utmost pleasure President Harding's wise and courteous initiative."

The house cheered this statement and the premier added: "In saying that I speak for the entire world."

The premier said China would be invited as an independent nation on Pacific affairs.

Discuss Action

Newspapers of London printed reports of the President's proposal this morning giving the news the place of utmost importance in their columns and what editorial comment there was was most appreciative of Mr. Harding's action.

China would be admitted to the conference for the purpose of taking part in the consideration of far eastern problems and there was a feeling here today that the discussion would bring about a definite understanding which would include virtually the whole field of international relations.

SHOWERS BREAK WAVE IN STATE

Thermometer Goes Over 100 Saturday in Several Cities

Showers in some parts of the state Sunday broke the intense heat wave which caused the thermometer to rise above 100 at five government stations in the state Sunday afternoon. Showers were expected in this vicinity this evening.

The high temperature reported was at the Great Plains agricultural station near Minn. where a thermometer registered by the weather bureau registered 104.1 degrees. At Bismarck it was the hottest it ever had been 103.2. A record for the state generally is 104.4 established at Medora, N. D.

FORD REACHES NEW RECORD

Output of Factory is 108,962 in June But Not Enough

During the month of June the Ford Motor Company through its Detroit factories and 22 assembly plants throughout the country reached the production of 108,962 Ford cars and trucks, setting up a new high record for one month.

Production of Ford cars and trucks has been steadily increasing since early spring, and shows substantial gains over the same period last year. The second quarter of 1921, viz., April, May and June, shows an output of 305,796 Ford cars and trucks against 220,575 for the same three months of last year, or a net increase of 85,221.

Keep Distilled Water In Your Batteries

Garage Man Gives Motorists Tip on Care of Battery in Summer

Many customers ask our advice about the care of their battery in summer to use the best service," said Mr. Churchill, manager of the Lahr Motor Sales Company Garage.

"Our invariable answer to this question is: First, add distilled water and second, add distilled water.

"Motorists are inclined to forget that during hot weather the liquid in the battery, which is three-fourths water, evaporates much faster than during the cooler months.

"In addition to this the car is driven much more during the daylight hours in summer than in winter. This means that your battery is being charged continually with very little discharge. In other words, you are putting more heat in than you take out. Another reason for more distilled water.

So my advice is, says Mr. Churchill, "to look at your battery at least once a week during the summer season and add distilled water whenever necessary. This is a service we are glad to perform for all motorists no matter what make of battery they use. "On long tours it is often a good practice to use the lights even in the daytime to relieve the extra charge in the battery."

Essex Spring Shackles Of Special Design

"The early automobiles were truly horseless carriages," remarked R. B. Lambek, local Hudson-Essex dealer - "and even today many of the old earmarks of the wagon are noticeable in some automobile chassis.

"Perhaps no part is as old-fashioned as the average spring shackle bolt, shackle and spring bracket. A bronze bushing and strong bolt are used but wear on the side of the spring eye and bracket is not usually taken into account—yet this is where most rattles start.

"The Essex spring brackets are designed—not copied from old carriage practice. The problem is treated as one would consider an engine part, providing really practical adjustments and wearing surface that will last almost forever and eliminate rattles.

"Movable hardened steel plates are placed between the bracket and the end of the spring eye. Then a steel bushing passes through the bracket eye and is secured by the end nut. When the spring eye wears a little and shows a tendency to rattle a slight turn of the nut pushes the bushing in against the steel plates and promptly takes up any wear and keeps the connection noiseless."

TRAVELED 187,000 MILES IN BUICK

Used Log Chain as "Safety" Lock

Would you carry along a log chain, back your car up to a telephone pole each time you left it and lock it with a padlock four inches in diameter as a precaution against theft?

Particularly would you do that with a 13 year old car that had traveled 187,000 miles?

William H. Pardee, of Concord, Mich., thinks enough of his 13 year old Buick to do just that. Mr. Pardee is 91 years old.

No amount of persuasion can convince him that a car that has carried him 187,000 miles in 13 years of constant use can be replaced.

Old-timers both—they created a sensation when they appeared at the head of the Buick section of the Jackson, Michigan, Automobile Dealers Association parade recently.

Contentedly, Mr. Pardee sat at the wheel of his ancient chariot which, undismayed by its many miles of service, charged along doggedly with the handsome new models.

IN HIS "FOUR-GALLON" HAT

President Harding, wearing the cowboy hat given him as an invitation to attend the Frontier Days celebration at Cheyenne, Wyo.

throw back to its wild ancestors and become poisonous enough to be distinctly unwholesome.

Fortunately we know the nature and the name of the poison, solanin, the circumstances under which it appears and the signs of its presence so that we can, in large measure, guard against it.

Where Trouble Starts

The whole trouble rises out of the biologic fact that his solanin is always normally present in the tops, or stalks and leaves of the potato, and may in some circumstances get carried down into the potato itself, which is not a true root but only a modified underground stalk.

The circumstance which chiefly causes this unwholesome change is the turning of the root into a stalk again by bringing it up too near the surface where the light can get at it.

Its warning signal is the well known greening of potatoes which have not been properly hilled up and thus left partly exposed to the light, or which have been dug before they were quite ripe.

Therefore it is well to be sharply on guard when purchasing potatoes or peeling them for the table, against all that show any greenness of the skin, either cutting away freely down to the white beneath, if the greenness is slight, or rejecting altogether if it covers more than a fourth of the potato.

The sprouts of potatoes which have sprouted in the bins, should also be very carefully kept out of the cooking pots as they, being budding stalks, contain solanin.

Ford

THE UNIVERSAL CAR

That Dependable Ford Quality.

FORD durability began back in 1903 when Henry Ford started experimenting with Vanadium steel and heat-treating processes. He knew that a more exact tempering of steel for motor car building must be worked out. Vanadium, it was learned, when added to molten steel, gives to that steel a greater toughness and adhesiveness. And now other alloys have been found which are superior to Vanadium. With the Ford Motor Company constant progress is the daily companion. The Ford products—Car, Truck, Tractor—grow in quality daily. Heat-treating tempers each part so that it will best withstand the wear or tear to which it is subjected. Ford chemists and analysts have created formulas and standard specifications for every individual part of the Ford car—not only for the steel but for everything from pneumatic tires to top.

Ford durability isn't a matter of accident, it is a matter of painstaking thoroughness in laboratory and factory. The Ford is a car of precision—of standardized values. Order your Ford car now. TWO NO. DAK. BOYS HELD AS ARMY DODGERS

Are Sent to Fort Cook, Nebraska, For Final Examination

St. Paul, Minn., July 11.—Four men have been convicted as draft evaders out of a total of fifty cases handled by courts-martial at Fort Snelling since the round-up of "dodgers" began. It was announced by Captain Fred S. Stobie, adjutant at the Fort.

Thirty-five of the fifty voluntarily surrendered and none of these cases went farther than a preliminary examination, the adjutant said. Many of the men listed as slackers had actually served in the armed forces, several had been wounded, and others had been excused from service, it was found.

Four Are Convicted
Names of the four men who have been sent on to Fort Crook for final examination before a board of officers of the Seventh Army corps—which staff is directing the apprehension of slackers—and subsequently to Fort Leavenworth, government prison, for a term of eighteen months servitude are:

Eddie Hyland, Thief River Falls, Minn., convicted and sentenced, February 17, 1920.

John H. Pangrac of Choteau County, Mont., convicted and sentenced December 10, 1920.

Fred B. Billingsly of Devils Lake, N. D., convicted and sentenced, October 12, 1918.

James Herr of Emmons county North Dakota, convicted and sentenced March, 1920.

Approximately 200 men in Minnesota, North and South Dakota and Montana, have been listed so far as slackers, according to government records. Most of these it has been found on investigation, left the address at which they are listed before or at the beginning of the war.

Descriptive matter concerning the alleged slackers has been sent out at intervals from the Seventh Army Corps headquarters, at Fort Cook, Neb., to sheriffs, chiefs of police, and department of justice officials. Rewards of $50 are offered for each arrest.

RAISING FUND FOR GUMMERSON

Friends in Bismarck Contribute To His Fight

Friends of C. K. Gummerson, deposited editor of the Fargo Courier-News, are raising a fund here to be used in defending him against the charge of criminal libel preferred as a result of the difficulties on the league paper in Fargo last week.

Personal friends, it is said, have signified their intention of raising an ample fund.

Mr. Gummerson, who formerly represented the Courier-News in Bismarck, told friends while here that after the Fargo scrap was settled he intended to go to Chicago.

National Tourist Bureau May Be New Department

Chicago, July 11.—The creation of a National Tourist Bureau, to be under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Interior, to exploit the scenic wonders and places of interest in the United States, encourage travel in America through publicity in this country and Europe, and further the good roads movement will be one of the proposals to be made at the convention of the American Hotel Association, which opened here today and will last until July 16.

The aim of the Tourist and Travel Bureau," said J. K. Blatchford, secretary-treasurer of the American Hotel Association, "is to encourage travel in America and educate the people both here and abroad as to the scenic wonders and places of interest in the United States." Another phase of the work would be the establishment of good roads between the various National Parks—better automobile highways from coast to coast, and from the Gulf to Canada. The creation of such a bureau will be urged at the coming convention of hotel men. It will be proposed that Congress pass a bill creating such a bureau, making sufficient appropriation for its development and maintenance under the jurisdiction of the Secretary of the Interior. The United States Government is a big hotel keeper and the creation of such a bureau would be of a great benefit to the country.

YOUNGEST MONARCH, WHO REIGNS BUT DOES NOT RULE, COMING TO U. S.

BORIS, TSAR OF BULGARIA

BY MILTON BRONNER
London, July 9.—If Boris Third, tsar of Bulgaria, comes to America this fall as announced, Americans will see not only the youngest monarch in Europe, but one who is at the head of the most democratic people in Europe.
Boris reigns, but does not rule. As a matter of fact, the rulers of Bulgaria today are the peasants acting through the Agrarian party. Peasant farmers constitute 85 per cent of the population. Their wheat and pigs are the country's chief source of wealth.
Boris came to the throne when his country was all shot to pieces. It had been in two wars in recent years and lost both. The first was when Bulgaria battled with Serbia and Greece and was thoroughly trounced. Then in the recent war, Boris' father, Tsar Ferdinand, was so pro-German that he took his country in on the side of the Central Powers and once more Bulgaria was licked.
Son Makes Good
Ferdinand fled. His oldest son, born Jan. 30, 1894, was called to the troubled country's throne October 4, 1918. He has made good.
His father had been a little autocrat who changed his title from prince to king and from king to tsar. Boris found a parliament in which the peasants dominated, and was content to have it so.
Ferdinand sent M. Stambouliski, the leader of the peasants, to prison for warning him against taking Bulgaria into the war on the side of Germany.
Under Boris this same Stambouliski is premier and he has the farmers back of him.
Ferdinand was always dreaming of territorial aggrandizement which meant war with Balkan neighbors. Boris dreams of peace with his neighbors and development of the resources of his country.
Ferdinand was a physical coward who shrank from mingling with his subjects for fear of assassination. Boris doesn't know the word fear and mingles freely with his people. He lives almost a monastic life in the palace, part of which he has closed up. He is practicing the economy he feels is necessary for Bulgaria if it is to pull itself out of the hole into which it fell during the war.

FOREIGN BORN FARMERS EXCEED THOSE OF NATIVE BIRTH FIGURES OF CENSUS BUREAU INDICATE

Washington, D. C., July 11.—The Bureau of the Census, of the Department of Commerce, announces, subject to correction, the following preliminary figures from the 1920 census of agriculture for the United States, with comparative figures for 1910:

The total area of land in farms in the United States in 1920, according to the Fourteenth Census, was 323,676,545 acres, as compared with 273,798,325 acres in 1910, showing an increase of 49,878,220 acres, or 8.7 per cent. The average acreage per farm in 1920 was 148.2 acres, while the average in 1910 was 141.1 acres.

White and Colored Farmers
Of the total land in farms in 1920, 310,608,429 acres were operated by white farmers, as against 332,166,929 acres in 1910. This represents an increase of 78,412,400 acres, or 9.4 per cent. Land operated by white farmers in 1920 constituted 95.3 per cent of all land in farms, as compared with 94.7 per cent in 1910. The average size of the farms operated by white farmers was 165.6 acres in 1920 and 153 acres in 1910.

Colored farmers operated 45,068,125 acres of land in 1920, as compared with 46,632,405 acres in 1910, representing a decrease of 1,564,280 acres, or 3.4 per cent. Farms operated by colored farmers in 1920 averaged 47.4 acres, as against 50.6 acres in 1910.

In the Southern states, where practically all of the colored farmers are Negroes, the average acreage per farm for colored farmers is much less than that for white farmers. For example, in Georgia farms operated by white farmers averaged 101.7 acres in 1920, and farms operated by colored farmers 34.3 acres. The averages in Mississippi were 112.2 acres for white farmers and 36.1 acres for colored farmers; in Texas, 395.5 acres for white farmers and 56.7 acres for colored farmers; and in South Carolina, 85.2 acres for white farmers and 49.3 acres for colored farmers.

Native and Foreign-born White Farmers
The 799,431,895 acres of land which were operated by native white farmers in 1920 constituted 81.7 per cent of all the farm land in the United States, or about seven-eighths of that operated by white farmers. The farm land operated by foreign-born white farmers in 1920 amounted to 111,176,523 acres, which was 11.6 per cent of the total farm acreage, or about one-eighth of all farm land operated by white farmers.

The average acreage per farm for native white farmers in 1920 was 162.6, while the average acreage for foreign-born white farmers was 131.3. The higher average shown for the foreign born for the United States as a whole is mainly due to the fact that the foreign-born farmers are numerous in many of the states where large farms prevail, as the native whites show a higher average than the foreign born in most of the individual states.

The states which reported the largest acreage operated by foreign-born

MASSAGING THE HEART
BY WOODS, HUTCHINSON, M. D.
Many and effective are the methods of social and relief workers for touching the human heart to gain relief for the poor or endowments for starving college professors. But none is as direct and simple as that practiced by modern surgeons in certain emergencies.
When a patient undergoing a serious abdominal operation suddenly collapses and his heart stops beating, the surgeon appeals to the heart for relief. He injects a stimulant or a salt solution into the veins, slips his hand through the wound in the abdomen up under the diaphragm and, grasping the heart, gently massages it.
If, at the same time, artificial respiration is carried out by pumping movements of the arms above the head, very few touches will often be sufficient to start the heart beating once more.
The method must be begun within three minutes of the time the heart has stopped to have any reasonable chance for success. But in some cases patients have been literally brought back to life after the heart has been still for five minutes, and in one case the heart actually started to beat again after it had stopped for more than 30 minutes. But this recovery, unfortunately, was not permanent.
Of course the heart is not touched directly by the surgeon's fingers, but massaged through the diaphragm or partition between the abdomen and chest, which is very thin just under the heart. But consider the amazing simplicity and audacity of the feat.

THE STATE'S OLDEST NEWSPAPER
(Established 1878)

MEASURING THEIR SERVICES

If the valiant services rendered the Republic by the service men could be measured in dollars, there is not enough wealth in the United States to repay them. The Tribune believes the service men place their sacrifices to the nation higher than a $1.00 a day additional pay for those who did not reach foreign soil and $1.25 a day for those who faced fire. These men have not reduced their devotion to the terms of a bonus, the payment of which at this time will reach down into their pockets in the way of increased taxes and higher prices.

The administration is committed to some policy as regards the debt of the Republic to the men who served, but it hardly finds the proper expression in the proposed bonus bill.

SECRETARY MELLON RIGHT

There is an unusual unanimity in the press of the nation that now is not the accepted time to take action upon the federal Soldiers' Bonus bill. Secretary Mellon in his letter to Senator Frelinghuysen has recited the main objections and whether Senator McCumber who is championing the measure will continue in his fight to have the measure passed over the strenuous objection of President Harding and Secretary Mellon is a matter of interest to the constituents of the senior senator in North Dakota.

The bonus bill as drawn is a menace to the policy of economy to which the Republican administration is committed. Its eager support in certain quarters has no justification outside of political expediency. Even the vote drawing power of such measures may be over estimated by the senators who are pushing the bill in the face of President Harding's opposition.

As Secretary Mellon clearly indicates the passage of the bonus measure would fail to benefit those in whose interests it is drawn by increasing the tax load and adding to the cost of living besides depressing Liberty bonds.

No time should be lost in caring for disabled soldiers. The nation stands ready to finance the care and rehabilitation of the wounded to the limit. There has been too much delay on that score already. Service men who are sound will find it to their advantage to wait. The present bonus measure should be delayed while efforts are redoubled to care for the disabled soldiers and their dependents and to quicken industry so that the service man out of a job may find steady employment which would mean immeasurably more to him than the small sum of relief offered by the bonus bill.

FEAR

Fear and worry are two of the greatest curses of the human race. If they could be eliminated most, if not all, of the difficulties under which their victims labor, whether real or imaginary, would disappear. The increase in the sum total of happiness that would follow is beyond computation.

Dr. Barton in a recent article, says that "it is not hard work that kills men." He adds that he does not remember ever having known a man who worked himself to death, but has known many who worried themselves to death.

The president of a great eastern university says, that in 40 years but one of the tens of thousands of students has died from overwork.

If there ever was a time that the world needed hard work and clear thinking, it is now.

Neither is possible on the part of the individual who is the slave of fear and worry.

International shoes are wiped on the diplo-mat.

CONGRESS LOAFERS

President Harding is said to be getting impatient because Congress is moving so slowly on the legislation which comprises the administration program.

This program, in the main, is designed to give the country relief from the industrial and financial depression.

It is to be hoped that the report is true and that the president will very soon take the policy of taking the leadership of Congress into his own hands and getting action by exerting the powerful pressure that is inherent in the presidential office.

Among the members of Congress, there seems to be no leadership worthy of the name. Whether this is due to the lack of individual ability of the members or their antiquated rules, the results, or rather the absence of results, are the same.

However great the president's impatience may be, it is not a patch compared with the impatience of the tax-burdened public.

It goes without saying that this public, irrespective of politics, will back the president to the limit, if he will throw down the gage to the law makers on capitol hill and compel them to do their plain duty instead of wasting their time in worse than useless wind jamming.

ONE WAY OUT

An explorer reports that whole African tribes are bent on race suicide. One tribal chief has forbidden marriage; in others women refuses to become mothers.

The determination to die came with introduction of civilization's vices, the explorer says.

The child-mind of the African takes the easiest way out of a hard struggle; the developed mind being able to see further, is willing to undergo suffering to attain a happier future.

All pay and no work makes Congress dull.

And now the ship of state lists to im-port side.

EDITORIAL REVIEW

Comments reproduced in this column may or may not express the opinion of The Tribune. They are presented here in order that our readers may have both sides of important issues which are being discussed in the press of the day.

GETTING READY FOR GOOD TIMES

The Duluth steel plant of the Minnesota Steel company has closed down, throwing seventeen hundred men out of work.

This because the present relation of supply and demand in the steel trade makes it unwise to continue manufacturing until that relation is readjusted.

That's not good news.

But—

Fourteen hundred of the seventeen hundred men laid off will be put immediately at work hurrying construction on the new mills at the steel plant.

This because the United States Steel corporation knows that the present condition is only temporary, and it is getting ready for the larger business that will come as soon as the post-war period of "liquidation" is over.

Most of us could take a useful lesson from this. The steel corporation is not a bear on America, nor is anybody else with common sense and a spark of vision. Too many people, because of a temporary depression that was to be expected, are prone to put on colored glasses and see nothing but blue.

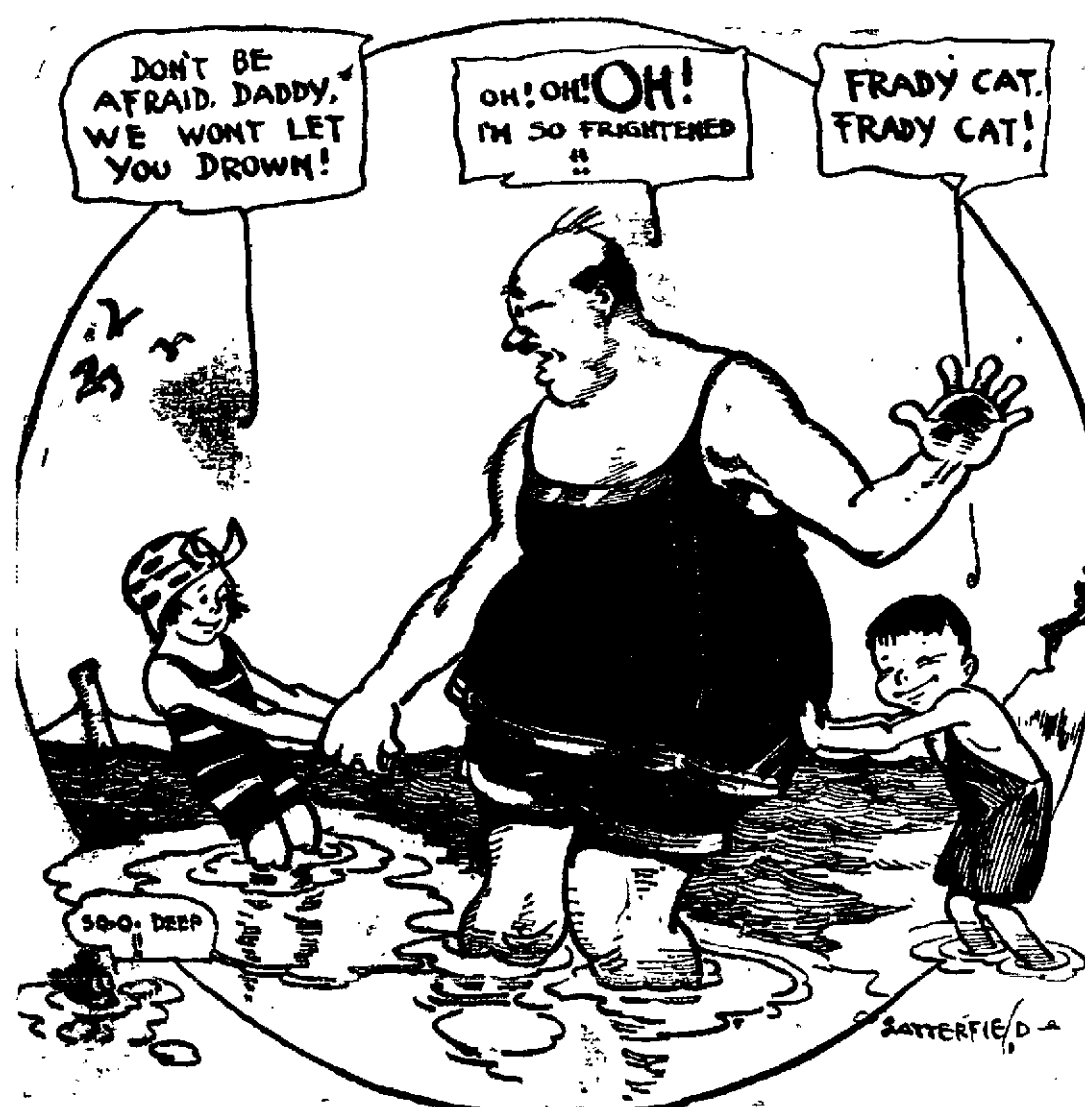

America is the richest, strongest country in the world. It has a little debt to pay for its recent inflation, and it is paying it. When the bill is paid in full, which cannot be long now, it will go ahead stronger than ever.—Duluth Herald.

SECRETARY MELLON'S PROTEST

Secretary Mellon's letter to Senator Frelinghuysen of New Jersey advising against the passage of the Soldiers' Bonus bill in the present state of the Treasury and while industry is still struggling with war conditions made so little impression upon Senator McCumber of North Dakota that he gave voice to a "fiery plea" for the measure. It is the same Senator McCumber who, on Jan. 9, 1907, demanded from his place in the Senate the passage of his service-and-age Pension bill, because "the country now, Mr. President, is wealthy, the Treasury is bursting with its load of coin." If Senator McCumber were consistent, he would not vote for the Soldiers' Bonus bill, because the Treasury now has no "load of coin" and is obliged to resort to all kinds of emergency shifts to meet its obligations as they accrue. Never was it so hard pressed for funds.

The Senator from North Dakota, who is now serving a fourth term, which will expire two years hence, cannot read the letter of the Secretary of the Treasury without being made aware, if he does not know it already, that to enact the Soldiers' Bonus bill would strain the credit of the country perhaps to the breaking point, and put on the backs of the people a crushing burden without in the end doing the so-called beneficiaries any good at all, but rather harm. Secretary Mellon, because of his knowledge of finance and by virtue of his office, is the country's first authority upon the subject with which he deals in his letter to Senator Frelinghuysen, and it may be assumed that he speaks the views of President Harding. Mr. Mellon calculates that the payment of bonuses would call for the expenditure of at least $3,300,000,000, and the total might be $5,250,000,000. The whole amount paid to war pensioners from 1790 to 1917 inclusive was about that sum, that is to say $5,215,525,780 — New York Times.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Barton Roberts

Away they sailed up through the rain drops toward the black cloud.

Nick was pretty smart and his brain was busy while he and Nancy and Sprinkle-Blow stood crowded under the weatherman's umbrella. He was trying to think of some way to get Howly Thunder and Jumpy Lightning out of the way. Suddenly Sprinkle-Blow's words about "the big black clouds" jumped into his head and they gave him an idea.

"If those two Nuisance Fairies hadn't anything to stand on, what would happen?" he asked.

The fairy weatherman was so astonished that he forgot to hold his magic umbrella straight and a lot of water dripped down Nancy's neck. "Why, I don't know," said he. "I suppose they wouldn't go any place. At least they couldn't stay here, could they?"

"No," said Nick. "If we could only chase those clouds away, everything would be all right again."

"Ha! I've got it!" cried Sprinkle-Blow. "We'll go to the house of the winds and ask Mr. West Wind to help us out. He's got a breath like an express train, and he'll send those clouds a-kiting. 'Come let's be off at once!' He closed his umbrella in spite of the torrents of rain, and got astride it at once. "Come, Liddies," he called, "we'd better keep together, so get on behind. An umbrella's better than shoes in a rain storm any time, even Magic Green Shoes."

The twins jumped on, and away they all sailed up through the rain drops toward the black clouds.

Howly Thunder beat his drum louder than ever, and Jumpy Lightning flashed his light in their eyes, but they kept right on.

Pretty soon they came to the black clouds, but the magic umbrella poked its way through. Out they came on the other side and were away again before the two rowdy fairies knew what had happened. Then they landed on Sprinkle-Blow's star.

Mitchell Insurance Man After Suffering Ten Years Is Restored to Perfect Health

"I feel it is time for me to speak out about Tanlac, for it not only relieved me after I had suffered for ten years but it made me gain thirty pounds and has kept me in the best of health for two years," said C. E. Warren, 712 West Fourth Street, Mitchell, S. D., well known insurance man.

"My trouble began with indigestion and after a while my whole system seemed to go wrong. My appetite was poor, and although I was careful about what I ate I suffered miserably after every meal. At times I had dizzy spells and would have to grab something to keep from falling. I was so nervous that I got little rest by day or night and was going down hill all the time."

"I never saw anything to equal the improvement that Tanlac made in me, for in a few weeks after I began taking it I was restored to perfect health. I eat, sleep, and feel better than I have in years, and I have so improved in appearance that my friends all comment on it, and I want to know what I have been taking to make such a change. I am glad to tell them it was Tanlac."

DOMINION BASIS FOR IRELAND MAY BE SETTLEMENT

The railway made an announcement from tonight they would resume normal hours.

Confidence Expressed.
Confidence was everywhere expressed here today that the Republican forces would observe the truce.

The record for the week end was ever indicated that the order had not reached the remote districts.

At Rochester county Cork Major G. O'Connor was kidnapped last evening and shot dead. He was formerly a noted Unionist politician and candidate for parliament in Dublin but more recently had been prominently identified with the southern Unionist movement for an Irish settlement.

At castle Island county Kerry a military patrol was attacked last night. Three soldiers were killed and three others wounded. Four members of the attacking party are believed to have been killed.

Fifteen Are Killed.
According to the official report there were 24 deaths all told from violence in Ireland over the week end. The figures included 15 killed in Belfast where 86 persons were wounded and 50 houses burned.

BRINTON CASE ENDS TERM OF COURT IN CITY

Frazier about their conditions months before he publicly denounced Lemke and Fowley.

That A. C. Townley said. We want Cullito in the bank because he has agreed to say with us.

That funds were taken from the Bank of North Dakota to a private bank in Fargo and there misappropriated.

That he (Brinton) made good the embezzlement of Sisal Trust money.

The Brinton charges were a serious indictment of the entire league financial policy and particularly of the league leaders whom he said forgot the original purposes of the organization and tried to enrich their personal fortunes and rise to dizzy political heights.

The special prosecutor selected by Attorney General Lemke to try the case was J. J. Weeks, state's attorney of Bottineau, a well known lawyer in the northern part of the state. He was assisted by George K. Foster, assistant attorney general, and H. A. Paddock, secretary to the industrial commission and Attorney General Lemke at times.

But the odyssey of the Yukon is being rewritten in the present rush in terms of modern transportation. The oil seekers making their way north travel in modern sleeping cars to the end of the northern railways and thence in comfortable river steamers and motor launches. On Canadian oil company is sending its scouting parties into the territories in all metal airplanes.

The moment the traveler leaves the river highway however he is face to face with the still unconquered north. Portages must be negotiated with great hardships for those who are transporting heavy oil machinery.

They get a taste of the once thrifling Edmonton in Dawson city—the grimiest joke of the gold-seeking northland where men died by the scores of went laying mad and where the survivors who finally struggled through arrived at the Alaskan gold fields one to two years late.

But men have

Social and Personal
D. S. SCHOOL
OPENS TODAY

A great number of ladies took advantage of the free lecture course which is being conducted by domestic science teachers, under the auspices of the Corn Products Company at the American Legion hall this afternoon.

Miss Tynes, a graduate of Columbia university and a Chicago Domestic Science school is in charge of the lectures. Miss O'Leary who was to give the lectures in Bismarck is with Miss Tynes at present but will leave for her work in Montana soon.

The lecture this afternoon was on the value of Mazola in comparison to other fats used, in place of some compounds for shortening. The making of tuna fish salad with mayonnaise dressing was demonstrated this afternoon. White loaf cake was made showing the use of Mazola in place of butter and pie crust proving that Mazola was an efficient substitute for lard. The equipment used is entirely electrical and the use of new time saving methods will be explained.

The ladies have had splendid success all along and it is thought the ladies of Bismarck will take as much interest in the Domestic Science as those of other places.

UNDERGARMENTS.

Short bloomers with the shorter chemise are being worn most now in the way of underclothing. Bloomers lend themselves well to the tailored skirt.

Squares of blue and gold beading give a distinguished air to this snake colored crepe de chine frock which Miss Martha Mansfield, Selznick Pictures (left), wears. Note the sheath of feathers at the side of her smart, small hat.

Leatrice Joy, Goldwyn Pictures (right), also goes in for beads. Beading on the fall gown is to be very good. Leatrice, however, confines her frock's ornamentation to a chiffon apron, which is elaborate enough, indeed. The fabric medium for the gown is duvetine.

The blouse relies on knife plaiting for its distinctive touch. It has the much worn round neck and the peg-lum.

USE OIL.

A cloth dampened with kerosene will remove axle grease spots from woolen material. It should not be rubbed too hard, however, for the fabric will be injured if it is.

JAPANESE BOW.

Evening gowns which sport the extreme V back often have huge Japanese bows of self-tone tulle at the back which partially cover the expanse natural. Distended skirts are good.

COLORS IN UNDERWEAR.

There is a much wider range of colors in silk undergarments this season than has been customary. Apricot, orchid, pale green, platinum, maize and Saxe blue all are to be found in the popular colors.

Here is the latest Ford story

"We use our car for chasing wolves, coyotes and foxes. We must have casings that stand up, for we make our own roads, and after trying a number of different makes we find there is no tire like Diamond. Wolves go fast, coyotes faster, and we go fastest—consequently we have supreme confidence in Diamonds."

Andrew Bakke and Fred Dahlen, Cutbank, Mont.
